

Malte Budig

Frontend engineer for product teams shipping polished web experiences

 Stuttgart / Remote / Japan-friendly collaboration

Open to frontend, fullstack, and mobile product roles

Profile

I turn messy product requirements into maintainable interfaces, clear component systems, and dependable user flows. This version emphasizes the React, Next.js, and UI architecture work that shows how I think about frontend quality beyond just shipping screens.

Why this version fits

- React and Next.js delivery in real product teams, not only side projects
- Comfortable with design systems, accessibility, and maintainable component structure
- Strong bridge between product thinking, implementation detail, and polish
